Dear Glen,

I write this email as a show of support for Bond which is a fine establishment in Norwich.

On every occasion that I have been to Bond I have found the staff and management to be friendly, courteous and professional.

It is always pleasant, immaculately clean and tidy and an 'oasis of calm' in this busy yet Fine City.

Even at night it is well controlled and orderly unlike some other establishments. I always enjoy going to Bond and have never had a problem there.

Bond also supports the Lord's & Lady Taverners and has held events there for free to assist this worthwhile charity in raising funds for disadvantaged and disabled children.

I wholeheartedly endorse Bond which more than deserves its place in the heart of this Fine City!

Yours Sincerely

To Whom It May Concern,

I'm writing to endorse Bond as a venue, one of the best places in town to take clients and colleagues. In my experience there have never been any issues at Bond, and in fact the clientele is a good age, the ambience in general is high class, and it would always be the first place to take prospective businesses.

I would even go as far as to say that, given the strict dress code and low volume music, it's less of a party venue and more of a social gathering destination.

Yours Faithfully,

Sam Jeffery

Dear Caroline,

I would like to write and tell you of my personal experiences of visiting Bond.

As a man now in my 50s places in Norwich are becoming few and far between to go in the evening without feeling to old.

I enjoy bond as it's not too loud, I can enjoy a drink and conversation with friends without having to shout over the music which sadly other establishments cannot fulfil.

As a local business man and employer I like to bring my management team and clients to Bond as I feel it's a very safe and respectable establishment, the staff are always very welcoming and professional and adhere to a very high standard of customer care.

The dress code is very smart which is important to me as a customer, the events you put on from time to time are excellent and encourages a great social mix of professional people

I'm a particular fan of the garden in the summer especially as I like decent quiet area to relax and enjoy conversations in the company of friends.

I look forward to coming to Bond again in the near future and keep up the good work.

To whom it may concern:

On behalf of the Norwich City Community Sports foundation, I write to confirm our support of the venue and the staff at Bond NO. 28 Tombland.

We have worked very closely with key people from owners to support staff, who have always been very conscious to the experience they provide to our staff and volunteers, both inside and outside of the venue.

Due to their thoughtful planning, we have been able to enjoy their ambience, environment and general safe culture on more than one occasion. We are also grateful for their hospitality; gifting us venue usage for our team to meet, host potential partners/donors or to reward key people who have helped our Foundation put together projects designed to enhance our County.

It has now become somewhat of a rarity in our City to visit a venue where you can hear yourself talk and be relaxed around the behaviour of fellow guests and customers but, at Bond NO. 28 Tombland, they have created this culture and care that it is nurtured and maintained

Your Sincerely,

Ian Thornton
