Background

1. The corporate plan 2012-2015 sets out the overall strategic direction of the council including its vision, priorities and values. This will guide everything the council will do for the city and its residents and visitors for the period. As such, the plan acts as the overarching policy framework for the council.
2. The plan was developed during 2011 and early 2012 through a number of methods including:
 - Analysing information on levels of need in the city including drawing on the joint strategic needs assessment, indices of multiple deprivation and our own economic barometer.
 - Listening to our residents and customers on what are the key issues and priorities for city residents, including the results of our 12-week public consultation (your services, your say) on the future priorities and shape of the council.
 - Reviewing the current environment the council operates in, including the national and local economic climate and changing policy and legislation for local government.
 - Consideration of the council's need to continue to significantly reduce its resources in line with its medium-term financial strategy and the reductions required of other public sector organisations.
 - Discussions with key partners and stakeholders over their priorities for the city.
 - Workshops with councillors and staff to consider the key role of the council in the current climate.
 - Formal reviews by scrutiny committee, cabinet and council.
3. The corporate plan was drawn up in line with the Medium Term Financial Strategy and in parallel to the development of the budget for 2012/13 to ensure the necessary resources were in place for its delivery.

Review of the corporate plan

4. Following a review carried out alongside the development of the budget for 2013/14, changes were made to three corporate performance targets and the updated corporate plan was approved by Council as the overarching policy framework on the 19 February 2013.
5. The corporate plan has again been reviewed this year in parallel to the development of the city council budget for 2014/15 to ensure that there will be adequate resources to continue the delivery of the key corporate priorities. The plan has also been reviewed in light of the changing context that the council operates in.

6. The corporate plan was always intended to last until 2015 and despite the fact some of the context has changed the overall vision, priorities and values remain current and appropriate for the council. It is, therefore, proposed to again not make significant changes to the corporate plan. However, it is proposed to amend the following corporate performance targets for the reasons set out in the table below.

Performance measure	Current target	Proposed revised target	Reason for proposed revision
% reduction in CO2 emissions from local authority operations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 2014/15 - 4% 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 2014/15 – Provisionally 2.2% (see explanation) 	The council is currently developing a new carbon management programme for the next five years. This will be discussed at Sustainable Development Panel on the 29 January 2014 before being formally considered by Cabinet on 5 February 2014. Currently, the proposed target in the draft programme is to achieve a further 11% reduction over the next five years equating to 2.2% per year. This is considered realistic given the significant reductions achieved by the council over the last five years (24% or 29% weather corrected), the complex nature of the council's estate and operations and the further opportunities that could be practically realised. This would also mean the Council would have achieved a total reduction above the government's national target.
% of domestic waste sent for re-use, recycling or composting	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 2014/15- 50% 	2014/15- 43%	It is proposed to keep the council's recycling target at the 2013/14 amount of 43% for 2014/15 rather than increase it to 50%. This is for the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> All authorities in Norfolk except Kings Lynn and West Norfolk Borough Council have shown a decrease in recycling rates Evidence suggests people are throwing away less food reducing the level of food waste recycling Manufacturers are continuing to actively light weight products, especially packaging and since the recycling rate is calculated by weight this will reduce the percentage that is recycled There is a general reduction of 2% per year in the amount of newspaper that is produced – again a relatively heavy material which forms the largest part of the recycling weight The county council will still not pay recycling credits for street

			sweepings meaning we have sent them to county for disposal The launch of the new Materials Recycling Facility contract, which is expected to be operational by November 2014, will provide the opportunity for people to co-mingle recyclables and recycle more materials which should help overall performance. Nevertheless, for the reasons stated above retaining the current year's target of 43% rather than increasing it to 50% is considered more realistic.
% of compliant food safety inspections	2014/15 - 97%	2014/15 - 90%	The council has a very high performing food hygiene service. As such, it has previously set extremely challenging targets for the service. It is now considered that these targets are actually slightly too challenging and unrealistic given the very complex nature of the work. As such, it is proposed to set a more realistic target of 90% for 2014/15 which would still represent good performance.

Please note: That the savings target in the Corporate Plan will be automatically be aligned with the savings target within the MTFS that is part of the budget report agreed by Council on the 18 February 2014.

Delivery of the corporate plan

7. The plan is underpinned by a range of service and operational plans, which set out in more detail how our vision and priorities will be delivered. These plans contain more specific targets, which are allocated to teams, contractors and employees to deliver.
8. Progress against targets is monitored and reviewed regularly through the council's performance management framework. This includes monthly performance reports to portfolio holders.
9. Overall progress on delivering the corporate plan is then formally reported quarterly to the council's cabinet and scrutiny committee. The council also publishes an annual performance review as part of its statement of the accounts.
10. The corporate plan 2012-15 also links closely to the council's risk management strategy and corporate risk register. The council has a comprehensive approach to risk management which ensures that all strategic risks are appropriately identified, managed and mitigated against.
11. It is recommended that the Cabinet agree to recommend to council that the amendments to the Corporate Plan 2012-2015, as set out in the report, are approved and that the Corporate Plan, as amended, is then agreed as the Council's overarching policy framework for 2014/15.

1. Foreword by the leader of the council

As leader of Norwich City Council, I want our peers and other organisations across the county to regard us as a leading authority, a trusted partner and an organisation that is outward looking and good to work with.

I strongly believe the council has, and should continue to hold, a civic leadership role. Elected councillors have a mandate to represent and work with their communities. While having the civic leadership role, we all know that in the current climate a local authority can no longer deliver the range of services it used to. However, I believe we have a responsibility to protect the delivery of public sector services. This means we have to work with others to ensure the services which people tell us are important remain.

This may be through our commissioning framework, through shared services and partnerships, by giving grants or by working with local groups and organisations to develop skills and capacity. We have to take a collaborative approach to enhancing the quality of life of people living in our communities.

The administration's record on developing sound financial systems and making significant efficiencies, cost reductions and improvements to services over the past five years has put us in a better position than many authorities to face the challenges presented to us by significant cuts to public sector funding. This has been demonstrated by our recent short listing for the LGC's award for 'Most improved council of the year'. Our prudent management gives us time to consider just how we spend our income and use it to deliver against our corporate plan.

This work, together with our successful joint working through the Greater Norwich Development Partnership (GNDP), our work on economic development and with the business sector together with our emerging closer working with health, social care and the police, has put us in a strong position to engage and collaborate even more effectively with our external partners.

The recent achievement of health city status and launch of the health city programme will provide a strong framework for continuing to work with our partners to reduce health inequalities in Norwich in the future.

We recognise that we face some big issues as cuts in funding to local government and other public service providers, major changes in the welfare system and increases in fuel and food bills all impact on households in Norwich. As a council I am keen that we do everything we can, within our limited resources, to support the city through these difficult times.

The challenges we face are significant. However, in developing new ways of working we will still cleave to our values of equality, protecting the delivery of public services, and supporting the most vulnerable. We are also committed to ensuring we continue to enable the provision of decent homes despite the difficult wider economic position impacting on new house building and are working to maintain a buoyant economy. This will include us starting work to build council houses again for the first time in more than 20 years.

The application we have developed with our partners for a City Deal has the potential, if approved, to deliver huge economic and social benefits for the greater Norwich area in the future.

Norwich City Council has achieved a great deal in just a few years and while, we may not be able to meet everyone's expectations because of the funding cuts we face, we will continue to fight strenuously for a better quality of life for the people of Norwich.

Brenda Arthur
Leader of Norwich City Council

2. The council and the city

Norwich City Council provides services to the city of Norwich along with Broadland District Council, South Norfolk Council and Norfolk County Council.

The city council is responsible for approximately 60 per cent of the urban area of the city, including the historic city centre, covering a population of approximately 143,000 people.

Norwich is an innovative, creative city with big ambition for both the place and the people who live here. The fastest-growing population in the east of England, it is home to the headquarters of many global companies, in the top nine shopping destinations in the country and is the regional cultural capital. Its economic, social, cultural and environmental influence is out of all proportion to its size, and extends far beyond its boundary.

But Norwich is also a tale of two cities. While the city has many positive aspects, it also has many of the tough challenges that urban centres can experience. Many city residents experience deprivation, poor educational attainment and poor health.

Our position as a regional centre means there are high levels of inward travel into the city for work, shopping, cultural and leisure activities. This means many of the services the city council provides are used by people who live outside of Norwich, placing additional pressures on our resourcing.

Norwich is also a growing city (the fourth-fastest growing in the UK), which will put additional demands on the council's services and resources in the future.

The information on the next page provides more detail on the economic, social, health, cultural and environmental picture of the city.

The city council has approximately 740 full time equivalent members of staff who provide a range of different services for residents and visitors including:

- street cleaning, waste collection and recycling services
- planning services
- public protection services, including licensing and environmental health
- housing services including, providing and maintaining approximately 16,000 council homes in the UK making us one of the largest local authority landlords
- regeneration and economic development
- parks and open spaces
- cultural, tourism and leisure services
- housing and council tax benefits
- electoral services.

Summary of the social picture

Levels of socio-economic deprivation are the third highest in the region and 70th (out of 326) in England.

Above average rates of homelessness.

25 per cent of housing is council rented, compared to only 5.5 per cent in Norfolk.

75 per cent of school leavers staying on to further education, compared with 84 per cent across Norfolk.

6.7 per cent of the working age population is claiming incapacity benefit/employment support allowance.

Overall crime reduced by four per cent in 2010-11 compared with previous year.

For the 12 months for the year ending March 2011 there were 16,437 reports to police of anti-social behaviour in Norwich, which was a year-on-year reduction of nine per cent and 12,196 reports of anti-social behaviour to Norwich City Council, a year-on-year reduction of six per cent.

31.8 per cent of children affected by income deprivation in Norwich which is the 30th highest percentage nationally. It is the highest percentage of any district council and the highest percentage in the eastern region.

Summary of the environmental picture

Norwich has the highest decrease in CO² emissions per capita in the south and east of the UK as well as being one of the highest nationally, whilst at the same time having one of the highest population growths.

Since the start of our Carbon Management Programme, Norwich City Council has reduced its carbon emissions by more than 16 per cent.

University of East Anglia and Norwich Research Park are internationally recognised for excellence in environmental, health and life sciences.

Norwich City Council has increased household recycling and composting to over 40 per cent and reduced residual waste per household.

Summary of the economic picture

Around 127,000 people work in the Norwich urban area and 50,000 workers commute to the city each day.

40 per cent of jobs in the county are based in the Norwich urban area.

The ninth ranked shopping venue in the UK.

39.1 per cent of Norwich's working age population is qualified to degree level and above, higher than the national and regional averages.

Summary of the cultural picture

Highest level of culture per capita in the UK.

Prime examples of architecture including Norwich 12, the UK's finest collection of heritage buildings in a medieval cityscape.

Bid shortlisted for UK City of Culture 2013.

Major sporting facilities including football, athletics, olympic swimming pool etc.

Three regional media businesses (BBC, Anglia and Archant).

High-profile arts calendar including the Norfolk and Norwich Festival, the largest festival in the country.

Writers' Centre Norwich delivering world-class literary events.

Bidding to become England's first UNESCO City of Literature.

Highly regarded arts institutions including Norwich Castle Museum and Art Gallery, Norwich University College of the Arts and the Sainsbury Centre for Visual Arts.

Five theatres, including the Theatre Royal – the most successful regional theatre in the UK.

75 formal play areas and 17 all weather games areas.

Summary of the health picture

The health picture overall for Norwich is mixed, with life expectancy overall similar to the national average.

But this masks huge differences within the city, for example a difference of eight years between people in the healthiest and least healthy wards.

Many key health measures are significantly worse in Norwich than in the rest of the county.

Significant health issues with high levels of teenage pregnancy, mental health problems and drug and alcohol misuse.

High levels of adult smoking, physical inactivity and adult obesity.

Low levels of childhood obesity and diabetes.

Lower than average children's population, and higher young people's population (16 to 24).

Lower than average road deaths and injuries.

3. Strategic direction of the council

This corporate plan sets out the overall strategic direction of the council including our vision, priorities and values. This will guide everything the council will do for the city and its residents and visitors for the next three years.

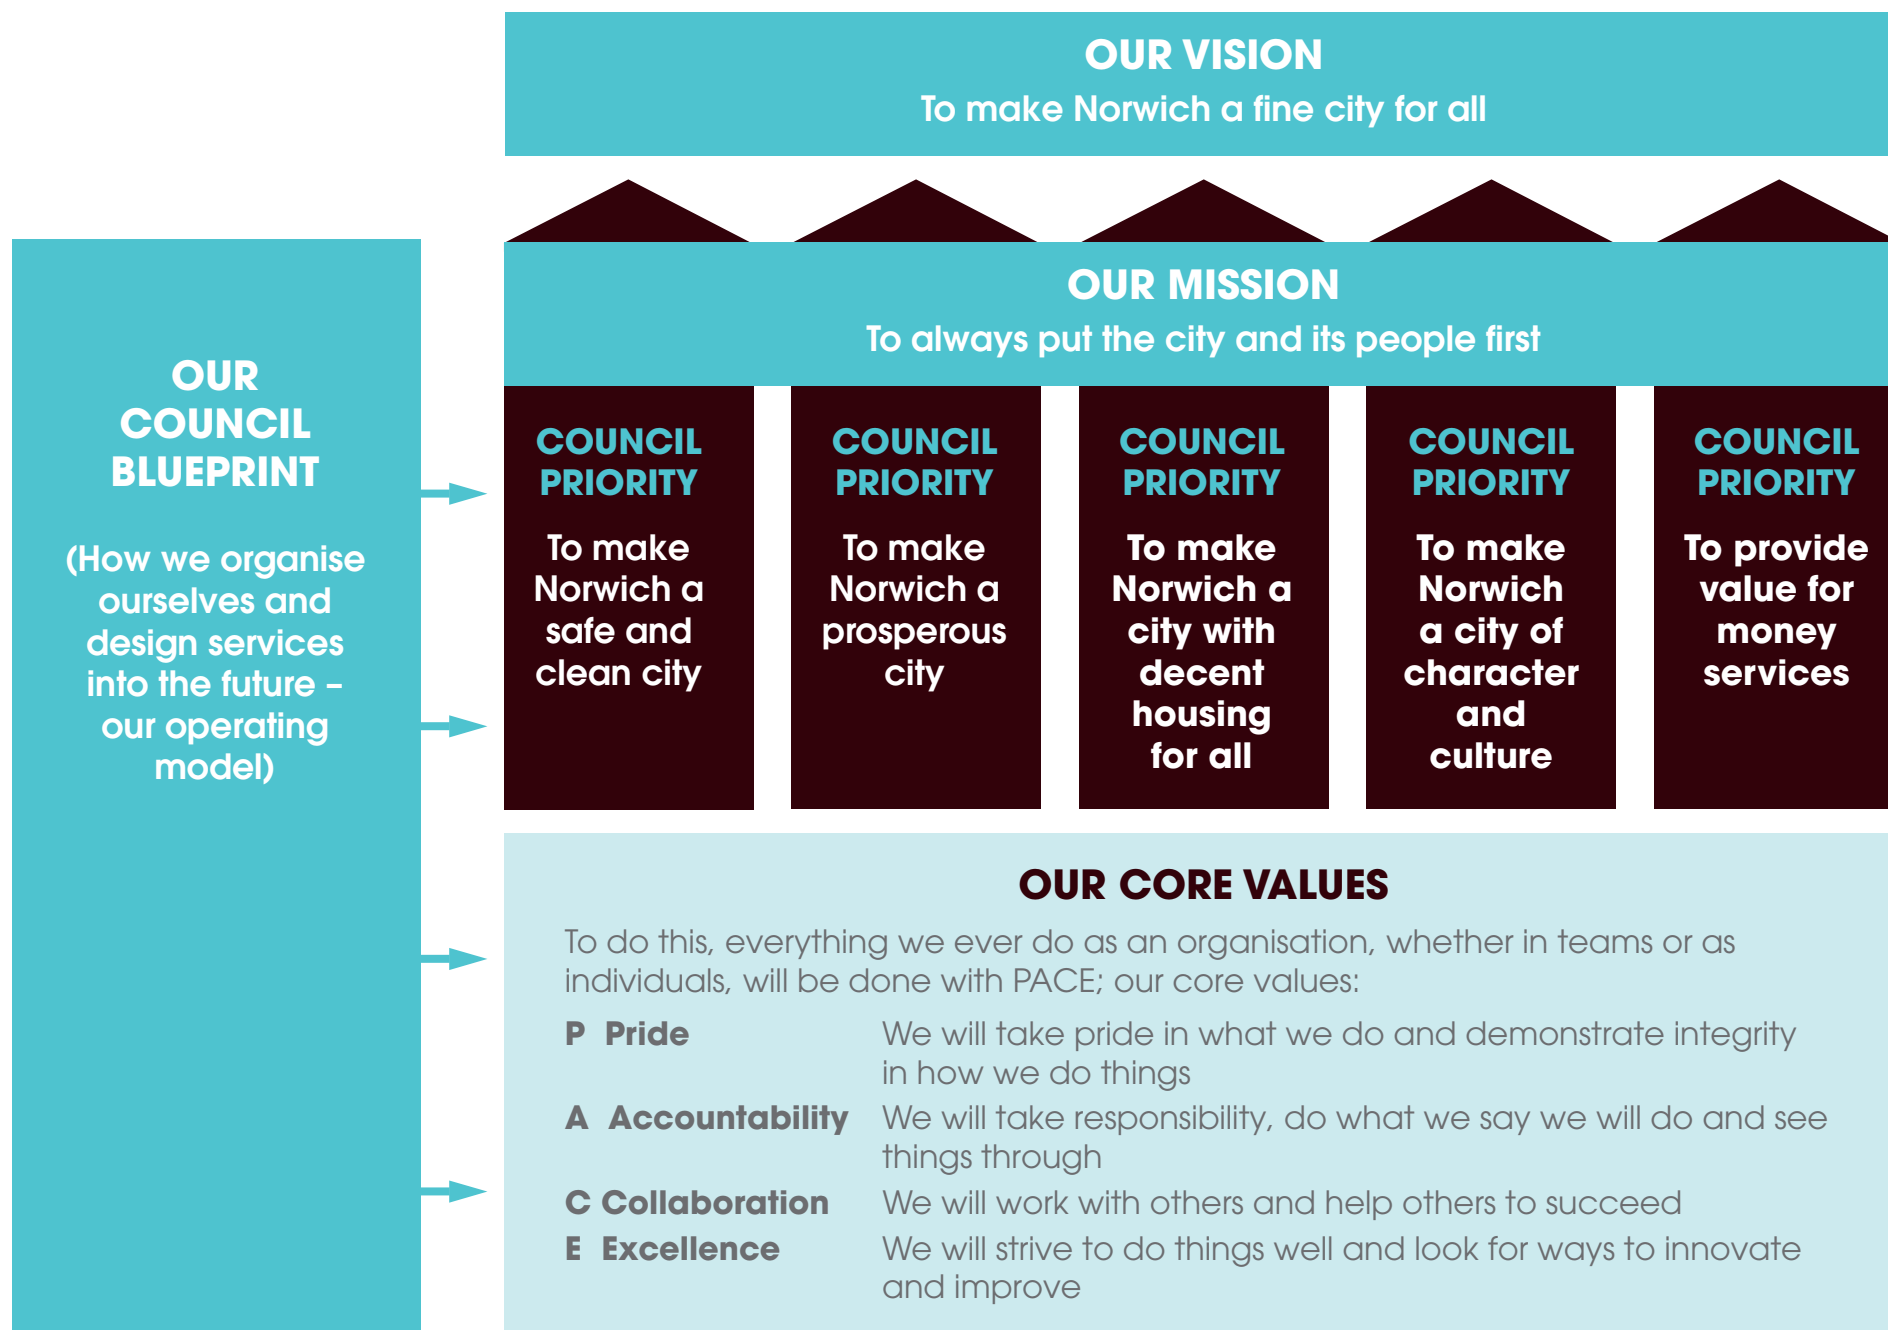

Our strategic direction is shown in the diagram on the next page and covers the following elements:

- Our vision – overall this is what as a council we aim to achieve for the city and its residents
 - Our mission – this is the fundamental purpose of the council – what we are here for
 - Our priorities – these are the key things we aim to focus on achieving for the city and its residents to realise our vision over the next three years
 - Our core values – these drive how we will all work and act as teams and employees of the council.
- Taken together, these summarise what we promise to do and be as a council for the city and its residents and visitors.
- This direction has been developed through a number of methods including:
- analysing information on levels of need in the city including the joint strategic needs assessment, indices of multiple deprivation and our own economic barometer
 - listening to our residents and customers on what are their key issues and priorities, including the results of our 12-week public consultation (your services, your say) on the future priorities and shape of the council
 - reviewing the current environment the council operates in, including the national and local economic climate and changing policy and legislation for local government
 - consideration of the council's need to continue to significantly reduce its resources in line with its medium-term financial strategy and the reductions required of other public sector organisations

- discussions with key partners and stakeholders over their priorities for the city
- workshops with councillors and staff to consider the key role of the council in the current climate.

Also mentioned in the diagram is the council's blueprint. This is a separate document that can be found on our website at www.norwich.gov.uk and guides how we design our services and organise ourselves to deliver the priorities.

4. Council priorities and key actions

Council priority – Safe and clean city

We want to make sure Norwich is safe and clean for all residents and visitors to enjoy. We also want to increase recycling and environmental sustainability in the city. This was the priority ranked most important by residents in our public consultation on the future priorities and shape of the council.

To support this priority we will work with our residents and partners to deliver the following key actions over the next three years:

- maintain street and area cleanliness
- provide efficient and effective waste services and increase the amount of recycling
- work effectively with the police to reduce antisocial behaviour, crime and the fear of crime
- protect residents and visitors by maintaining the standards of food safety
- maintain a safe highway network and reduce road casualties including seeking to achieve the introduction of 20mph zones across the city.

Council priority – Prosperous city

We want Norwich to be a prosperous city which businesses want to invest in and where everyone has access to opportunities and a reasonable standard of living. Currently, we have areas of considerable deprivation and the changing economic and policy climate may worsen the impact on certain disadvantaged groups. This priority was ranked third most important by residents in our public consultation on the future priorities and shape of the council.

To support this priority we will work with our residents and partners to deliver the following key actions over the next three years:

- support the development of the local economy and attract inward investment through economic development and regeneration activities
- encourage visitors and tourists to Norwich through effective promotion of the city
- support people on low incomes through advocacy and financial inclusion activities
- reduce fuel poverty through affordable-warmth activities.

Council priority – Decent housing for all

We want to make sure people in Norwich have access to appropriate and good quality housing. Currently, the demand for affordable housing considerably outstrips supply in Norwich. This priority was ranked fourth most important by residents in our public consultation on the future priorities and shape of the council.

To support this priority we will work with our residents and partners to deliver the following key actions over the next three years:

- improve the letting of council homes so we make the best use of existing affordable housing resources
- improve the council's housing stock through a programme of upgrades and maintenance including new kitchens, windows and doors
- develop new affordable housing
- prevent people from becoming homeless through providing effective advice and alternative housing options
- bring empty homes back into use and improve the standard of private sector housing through advice, grants and enforcement.

Council priority – City of character and culture

We want Norwich to maintain its historic character and continue to be a vibrant cultural city with lots for residents and visitors to do. This priority was ranked fifth most important by residents in our public consultation on the future priorities and shape of the council.

To support this priority we will work with our residents and partners to deliver the following key actions over the next three years:

- manage the development of the city through effective planning and conservation management
- provide a range of cultural and leisure opportunities and events for people
- provide well-maintained parks and open spaces
- maximise the opportunities provided by the 2012 Olympics
- become the first UNESCO City of Literature.

Council priority – Value for money services

The council is committed to providing efficient, effective and quality public services to residents and visitors. While we face considerable savings targets over the next three years, we will continue to protect and improve those services our residents value most as much as we possibly can. This priority was ranked second most important by residents in our public consultation on the future priorities and shape of the council.

To support this priority we will work with our residents and partners to deliver the following key actions over the next three years:

- continue to reshape the way the council works to realise our savings targets, protecting and improving services wherever possible and working effectively with partners, through a transformation programme
- improve the efficiency of the council's customer engagement and access channels

- maximise council income through effective asset management, trading and collection activities.
- reach the achieving level of the equalities framework
- reduce the council's carbon emissions through a carbon management programme.

5. Key performance measures and targets

To ensure we are achieving our priorities and delivering the key actions that support them we develop and monitor key performance measures. We use these to test how we are doing. These are shown in the table below.

6. Delivering the plan

This plan is underpinned by a range of strategic and operational plans, which set out in more detail how our vision and priorities will be delivered. These plans contain more specific targets, which are allocated to teams, contractors and employees to deliver.

Progress against targets is monitored and reviewed regularly through the council's performance management framework. This includes monthly performance reports to the council's portfolio holders.

Overall progress on delivering the corporate plan is then formally reported quarterly to the council's cabinet and scrutiny committee. The council also publishes an annual performance review as part of its statement of the accounts. To find this statement click here.

This corporate plan 2012-15 sits alongside the council's budgets and Medium Term Financial Strategy 2012-15. These documents ensure resources are available for the delivery of the corporate plan.

The corporate plan 2012-15 also links closely to the council's risk management strategy and corporate risk register. The council has a comprehensive approach to risk management which ensures all strategic risks are appropriately identified, managed and mitigated against.

The diagram below summarises how our priorities, actions and performance targets are delivered through delivery plans, financial plans and agreed staff actions.
