3. Temporary proposed revised scheme of delegation

The area development manager (outer) presented the report. During his presentation he referred to the Coronavirus Act 2020 and regulations relating to virtual meetings and explained the proposed scheme of committee delegations to the area development managers in consultation with the chair or if not available the vice chair. He commented on the unprecedented situation of the global pandemic and the pressures on the council's resources, including the redeployment of members of the development control team to assist vulnerable people and the redistribution of the business grant to support local businesses, and the need to balance resources against the council's priorities and maintaining planning services. Officers had taken into consideration the planning applications that were in the system and would require determination in the next few months. The committee could take these into account and consider setting a specific timescale for review of these arrangements.

Discussion ensued in which the area development managers referred to the report and answered members' questions. This included an explanation of the additional tasks required by officers to hold a physical meeting of the planning applications committee, including the writing of committee reports, time spent at the meeting on the day and presentations to the committee. The area development manager (outer) considered that this amounted to around 45 to 50 hours and that he did not consider that a virtual meeting would be much less, as the meeting would be subject to the same publication rules, although reports would probably be presented by the area development managers rather than case officers. Members of the committee commented that the situation was fast changing and that if the officers had to produce a report for the chair to consider, in consultation with the officers, it seemed reasonable that this could be circulated to other members and that it was possible to hold a virtual meeting where members of the committee could consider the application in public. It was suggested that other councils were holding virtual meetings. A member suggested that it would be difficult to make decisions without the visual display of plans and slides and suggested that the chair and vice chair would use their discretion to not determine planning applications which they considered should be referred to the full planning applications committee. The area development manager said that this had been discussed at the meeting on 30 March 2020 and had resulted in the amendment relating to exclusion from the delegation to the area development managers in consultation with the chair or vice chair, of applications that were a resubmission of a proposal of the same character or on the same site where the committee had overturned an officer recommendation on a previous application. The area development manager (outer) said that the proposed scheme of delegations was a reasonable approach and that there were applications such as the Norwich School, which was in this category but they would use discretion to applications where officers considered that the committee should determine, such as an application on the Bartram Mowers site. They were aware that the council's reputation should be upheld.

Discussion ensued. A member pointed out that the technology was available for virtual committee meetings and there was no reason to "cast aside democracy" particularly for planning where the consequences of decisions would remain in the city for hundreds of years. Other members referred to the unprecedented circumstances of a global pandemic and that the council's priorities were to provide support for vulnerable people and support businesses during the current emergency and that the proposed change of scheme of delegations was a temporary measure. They also considered that officers and the chair or vice chair would use their discretion and important planning applications would not be determined under delegated powers but would be held over and referred to committee. Other members considered that decisions should be transparent and that members should be able to call in decisions to be made at a virtual meeting. Members acknowledged the pressures that the council was in to provide essential services and said that they would not call in applications for extensions or conservatories, but considered that there would be applications that required a committee decision and members needed a mechanism to do this. Members also considered that it was necessary to set a timescale for the review of the schedule of delegations. The situation regarding the pandemic was a fast changing one.

The area development manager (outer) then shared with the committee the following list of major planning applications which would be required to be reported to committee if a recommendation for approval were made under the current scheme of delegation (this list was accurate as of 22 April 2020):

Application Number.	17/00245/F

Councillor Neale referred to his amendment approved at the last meeting and said that he considered that all major planning applications should be excluded from delegation to the area development managers. Councillor Bogelein had submitted the following proposed amendment to the area development managers prior to the meeting, which was shared on the screen with members:

“Alternative scheme of delegation – Option A

A. Planning applications, conservation area applications, listed building applications and hazardous substances consent applications

All applications will be determined by the area development managers with the exception of the following:

(1) approval of major ^{[[1]]} planning applications if:

- (a) subject to one or more objections citing material planning issues, received within the consultation period; and
- (b) a member of the city council requests, within 35 calendar days (5 weeks)^{[[2]]} of neighbour notification letters being sent and an appropriate planning justification is made, that the application be referred to the committee for decision; or
- (c) for applications submitted prior to the date of this meeting, a member of the city council requests within 14 calendar days (2 weeks) of this meeting and an appropriate planning justification is made, that the application be referred to the committee for decision.”

Councillor Bogelein explained that her proposed amendment was for major planning applications and that minor applications like conservatories or extensions could be considered under delegated powers, in consultation with the chair or vice chair. Councillor Neale said that the committee should have the opportunity to view applications determined under the delegated powers and contact the chair or vice chair if they have any concerns. Councillor Bogelein moved and Councillor Neale seconded the amendment (reproduced above) and on being put to the vote, with 5 members voting in favour (Councillors Bogelein, Neale, Utton, Stutely and Lubbock), 6 members voting against (Councillors Sands, Driver, Huntley, Ryan, Maxwell and Button), and 1 member abstaining (Councillor Sarmezey), the amendment was lost.

The chair moved, seconded by the vice chair, the recommendations as set out in the report.

RESOLVED, with 8 members voting in favour (Councillors Driver, Maxwell, Sands, Button, Huntley, Ryan, Sarmezey and Stutely) and 4 members voting against (Councillors Bogelein, Neale, Utton and Lubbock) to approve for use with immediate effect the changes to the scheme of delegation as set out in the “Proposal” section of this report and at Appendix B.

^{[[1]]} major is defined by central government as applications for 10 or more dwellings, outline applications for residential development on sites over 0.5ha, or offices, research, industrial, warehousing or retail development over 1,000 sq m or over 1ha for outline applications.

^{[[2]]} where there is a re-consultation this will be extended to the end of any re-consultation period.

Discussion then ensued on the review of the approved scheme of delegation. In reply to a member's question the area development manager said that reviewing the amended scheme of delegation would be the first item on the agenda of the first physical meeting committee when it was possible to do so. He also confirmed to another member, who had asked if the committee were to consider reviewing the arrangements before 3 months' were up and it was reasonably practical to hold a meeting as normal, that it would take place within this period.

Councillor Lubbock moved and Councillor Utton seconded that the temporary scheme of delegations was reviewed in 2 months' time and on being put to the vote with 5 members voting in favour (Councillors Bogelein, Neale, Stutely, Lubbock and Utton) and 7 members voting against (Councillors Sands, Driver, Huntley, Ryan, Maxwell, Button and Sarmezey) the amendment was lost.

The chair moved and the vice chair seconded that the scheme of delegations was reviewed in 3 months' time and it was:

RESOLVED, with 9 members voting in favour (Councillors Sands, Driver, Huntley, Ryan, Maxwell, Bogelein, Button, Sarmezey and Stutely), 2 members voting against (Councillors Lubbock and Neale) and 1 member abstaining (Councillor Utton), to review the temporary scheme of delegations in 3 months' time.

Report

Background

1. On 23 April 2020, the planning applications committee resolved to adopt a new scheme of delegation for determining planning applications due to the unprecedented situation that was being faced as a result of the spread of coronavirus. This scheme of delegation is detailed at Appendix B of this report and the scheme of delegation that existed prior to this is included at Appendix A. It was agreed at the meeting of 23 April 2020 that these arrangements would be temporary and would be reviewed within three months. This report therefore seeks to review these arrangements and makes recommendations on a revised scheme of delegation for planning applications and arrangements for meetings going forward.
2. The changes made on 23 April 2020 allowed for decisions that would otherwise have been made at committee to be referred to the chair, or in the absence of the chair, to the vice-chair of the planning applications committee. The chair or vice-chair would then be able to decide whether to allow officers to determine the application under the new delegated powers or whether a committee meeting was necessary to determine the application. Applications relating to resubmissions of schemes, where the former application had been refused following a committee over-turn of an officer recommendation to approve, were excluded from these arrangements.
3. On 4 April 2020, the “Local Authorities and Police and Crime Panels (Coronavirus)(Flexibility of Local Authority and Police and Crime Panel Meetings((England and Wales) Regulations 2020 came into effect. These regulations set out specific and robust guidelines to allow councils to set up remote meetings using various technology, including conference calls and video conferences.
4. Notwithstanding the introduction of the 2020 regulations, the resolution of the meeting on 23 April 2020 sought to allow for most decisions to be determined under delegated powers rather than hold virtual meetings.
5. This decision took account of government advice that it is important to keep the decision making process going through this time of international crisis so as to minimise, as far as is possible, the impact upon the economy. It also took account of the increased demand on council services in responding to the crisis with some planning officers and colleagues who support the planning process (administrative officers and internal consultees), as well as those who support the committee process, being re-deployed to other tasks.

Decisions under the temporary arrangements

6. At the time of writing ten decisions have been made under the temporary arrangements adopted on 23 April 2020 and which required the chair’s/vice-chair’s approval to the use of delegated powers. A list of these decisions is included at Appendix D.

Proposal

7. Going forward, it is proposed that the planning applications committee will continue to meet virtually using an appropriate platform. However, officers consider that in order to make meetings manageable the scheme of delegation should be modified as shown in Appendix C.
8. Briefly, the proposed scheme of delegation would allow the following to be determined at officer level:
 - a) All 'Other' applications (such as householder extensions, listed buildings applications and changes of use without any associated physical works) unless called in by a councillor;
 - b) 'Minor' applications (developments of up to 10 houses and commercial new build of up to 1000m²) except where 4 or more objections are received; and,
 - c) Major' applications (more than 10 houses and more than 1000m² new commercial floorspace) except where 2 or more objections are received.
9. The proposed scheme of delegation also makes provision for 'Other' applications where Norwich City Council is the applicant and where 4 or more objections have been received to be determined by the planning applications committee.
10. In order to give an indication of the impact of the new proposals, the applications referred to the planning applications committee between 1 April 2017 and 31 March 2020 have been examined. During this time period, 40 major applications were considered; the proposed scheme of delegation would have reduced this by 6. 77 minor applications were considered; the proposed scheme would have reduced this figure by 40. Finally, 85 'Other' applications were considered: under the proposed scheme, these would all be determined under delegated powers unless called in by members.
11. This is based on the data in the table below which shows the number of objections received on planning applications determined by planning committee between 1 April 2017 and 31 March 2020.

	Number of objections											Total
	0*	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	≥10
Majors	1	6	6	3	4	0	2	0	0	2	16	40
Minors	4	5	20	15	9	3	4	6	4	1	6	77
Others	9	10	26	10	9	3	6	1	1	1	9	85

* cases with 0 objections are a combination of the city council's own applications, staff applications, cases such as a listed building consent application linked to an application for planning permission which does have objections or cases where officers have decided not to use delegated powers.

12. Of the above, in 15 cases members went against the officer recommendation. Of these 2 were approved following an officer recommendation to refuse. The below indicates numbers of objections on the remaining 13 with a summary of the circumstances around those with fewer objections:

- (a) 1 had 0 objections (a listed building application linked to a planning application with 14 objections);

- (b) 1 had 2 objections (an application for a large HMO, although originally recommended for approval officers updated their advice on this following an appeal decision and hence the application was refused);
- (c) 1 had 3 objections (change to 27 bed HMO);
- (d) 2 had 4 objections; (one was an HMO at the same meeting as b) above where officer advice changed due to an appeal decision, the other was a works to trees application);
- (e) 8 had \geq 10 objections.

13. Officers consider that these changes to the scheme of delegation are necessary to ensure that committee meetings are manageable and that the resources available are focussed on those applications with the most significant impact upon the wider community. It must be stressed, however, that smaller applications ('Other' applications) can still be referred to planning applications committee at officer discretion or if called in by a member. The time period within which an elected member can call in an application is proposed to be extended from the current 14 days of publication of a weekly list to 6 weeks from the valid date for a major application and 4 weeks for any other application.
14. It should be noted for future reference and avoidance of doubt that since 2010 multiple letters from the same household have been considered as a single letter of objection for the purposes of the scheme of delegation. This has been the approach since an earlier iteration of the scheme of delegation was adopted on 8 April 2010.

Public Speaking

15. Current rules governing public speaking at the planning applications committee are set out at Appendix 11 of the council's constitution. At present, the rules allow an unlimited number of people who have previously made a written representation (either in support or in opposition) on a planning application to speak for up to 3 minutes. The applicant or agent may also speak in support of an application for 3 minutes where objectors have registered to speak.
16. In considering public speaking, it should be noted that the planning applications committee is a meeting that is held in public, there is no requirement in legislation that requires members of the public to be able to address the committee directly. Indeed, the April Coronavirus Regulations, referred to above, only require that members of the public are able to hear the proceedings.
17. When planning applications committee considers applications at virtual committee meetings, it is important to ensure that members of the public have access to the proceedings. It is also important to ensure that access is equitable and that the meeting can be managed to ensure effective decisions are made. Not all members of the public will have access to the technology that would allow them to participate in a meeting held virtually. Consequently, it is proposed that public speaking is suspended for a period of 3 months (up until the November meeting) and instead members of the public may submit written statements that can be read out by officers at the meeting. It is also proposed that the number of statements to be read out is limited to 6 for a major application and 4 for a minor application and this will be subject to the following guidelines:

- (a) where such statements exceed 500 words they will be summarised by officers rather than read out word for word;
- (b) if more than the above number of statements are submitted officers will summarise the contents the statements;
- (c) the applicant or agent will be able to prepare one statement which will be read out; and
- (d) statements from members of the public may be in objection or support.
