

Norwich City Council
SCRUTINY COMMITTEE

Item No 7

REPORT for meeting to be held on 6 April 2017

Annual review of the scrutiny committee 2016 - 17

Summary: This annual review reports on the work and progress that has been made by the scrutiny committee for the period 2016–2017.

Article 6d of the council's constitution (overview and scrutiny committees) states that the scrutiny committee will report annually to the council on its workings and make recommendations for future work programmes and amended working methods if appropriate.

Conclusions: This snapshot view of outcomes as a result of scrutiny activity helps to reinforce that successful scrutiny is collaboration between the scrutiny committee, the cabinet, residents, partners and the officers of the council.

Scrutiny not only produces outcomes in terms of feeding into the decisions that are made but it can also play a valuable role to inform and develop knowledge for members.

Recommendation: That the scrutiny committee recommends the annual scrutiny review for approval at the next available meeting of full council.

Annual review of the scrutiny committee 2016 - 2017

Introduction by James Wright, the chair of the scrutiny committee

This annual review of the scrutiny committee is aimed at assessing the effectiveness of the work done by the scrutiny committee at Norwich City Council for the civic year 2016– 2017.

NORWICH
City Council

I would like to begin by thanking all those who have been involved with the scrutiny process this year, particularly those people from groups who would otherwise not engage with the council and whose input has been invaluable in a number of areas of scrutiny.

Throughout the year, the committee has looked at various aspects of delivery of the Corporate Plan, including making regular comment on the quarterly performance reports and feeding into the transformation and budget setting process, with members making recommendations to cabinet that help shape and strengthen the work of the council.

Unfortunately, there have been a number of areas that members of the committee would like to have looked at, but due to pressures of time it has not been possible to address these. It is hoped to include these when the work programme for the next civic year is discussed.

At the September and October meetings, the committee had the opportunity to questions representatives from Norfolk County Council, the National Union of Teachers, and DNEAT as to how the current education system impacts on the outcomes of our young people in Norwich, both at school, but also the impact of education on social mobility.

The committee had recommendations around the additional interventions for vulnerable families who expressed disquiet around the lack of alternative provision in Norwich.

One of the concerns levelled at the Academies and Free Schools programme is the lack of link to local democratic institutions. It is therefore significant that one of the recommendations from this piece of scrutiny is that the City Council should seek to establish a cooperative academy chain.

Local government faces a generational change in what it can deliver, and the City Council is not immune from that change. The November meeting focused on the neighbourhood model and ward councillors, looking at how councillors can work as enablers in their community.

Following this meeting a highly successful workshop was held for all councillors, the outcomes of which have fed into further development of the neighbourhood model.

Perhaps the most significant piece of work has been to investigate the causes of food poverty in Norwich. The committee used the February and March meetings to take evidence from a range of experts, and following good coverage of the February meeting, a number of public questions were submitted.

At the time of writing this foreword, the committee has not met to produce formal recommendations, but these will be discussed at the meeting of April 6. However, areas that the City Council could have a positive influence would be around having an umbrella food poverty strategy – bringing together existing services, and consider the use of vacant council retail premises for social enterprise use.

We are also pleased to see that members of the public are engaging through the scrutiny process in the form of questions.

The committee has agreed a change to setting the work programme, with all members being asked to work up detailed items for scrutiny during April / May rather than using our first meeting for discussing ideas. It is hoped that this way we will be able to achieve more detailed scrutiny during the year.

I would like to continue to see the work programme for next year in part informed by public request, and to that end would encourage members of the public to contact me to suggest topics for scrutiny.

I commend this annual review and hope that members feel able to adopt it.

Councillor James Wright – Chair of the scrutiny committee

Working style of the scrutiny committee and a protocol for those attending scrutiny

- All scrutiny committee meetings will be carried out in a spirit of mutual trust and respect
- Members of the scrutiny committee will not be subject to whipping arrangements by party groups
- Scrutiny committee members will work together and will attempt to achieve evidence based consensus and recommendations
- Members of the committee will take the lead in the selection of topics for scrutiny
- The scrutiny committee operates as a critical friend and offers constructive challenge to decision makers to support improved outcomes
- Invited attendees will be advised of the time, date and location of the meeting to which they are invited to give evidence
- The invited attendee will be made aware of the reasons for the invitation and of any documents and information that the committee wish them to provide
- Reasonable notice will be given to the invited attendee of all of the committees requirements so that these can be provided for in full at the earliest opportunity (there should be no nasty surprises at committee)
- Whenever possible it is expected that members of the scrutiny committee will share and plan questioning with the rest of the committee in advance of the meeting
- The invited attendee will be provided with copies of all relevant reports, papers and background information
- Practical arrangements, such as facilities for presentations will be in place. The layout of the meeting room will be appropriate
- The chair of the committee will introduce themselves to the invited attendee before evidence is given and; all those attending will be treated with courtesy and respect. The chair of the committee will make sure that all questions put to the witness are made in a clear and orderly manner

The scrutiny committee is politically balanced and is made up of councillors from the political parties of the council. Only non – cabinet members can be on the committee and this allows those councillors to have an active role in the council's decision making process.

What is scrutiny?

The Local Government Act 2000 introduced a structure within Local Government for decision-making and accountability and created a separation between the cabinet role and the non-executive member role.

Moving forward, subsequent acts of parliament have come in to extend the remit of scrutiny along with its statutory responsibilities. For example, local government scrutiny committees can now look at the work of partner organisations as well. The Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007 enabled local authorities to scrutinise other partners and agencies. This, along with other legislation relating to scrutiny powers has now been consolidated in the Localism Act 2011.

The cabinet proposes and implements policies and the non-executive members review policies and scrutinise decisions or pre scrutinise proposed decisions of the cabinet.

The Committee sets its own work programme via suggestions from councillors, the cabinet and council, or from other issues of public interest. Any scrutiny topic that is undertaken needs to add value, and in considering suggestions for scrutiny the committee will ascertain the reasons why the matter would benefit from scrutiny, and what outcomes might be generated from inclusion to the work programme or other scrutiny activity.

The scrutiny committee assists non-executive and cabinet members in accordance with the Act by:

- Acting as a critical friend by challenging performance and helping improve services
- Ensuring policies are working as intended and, where there are gaps help develop policy
- Bringing a wide perspective, from the city's residents and stakeholders and examining broader issues affecting local communities
- Acting as a consultative body

In carrying out its role, the scrutiny committee can request written information and ask questions of those who make decisions. The committee is also enabled to comment and make recommendations to decision makers. These decision makers include cabinet, partners and other statutory organisations. Successful scrutiny is collaboration between the scrutiny committee, the cabinet, residents, partners and the officers of the council.

4 Principles of Effective Scrutiny

The Centre for Public Scrutiny (www.cfps.org.uk) has produced a guide to effective public scrutiny, which provides 4 Principles of Effective Scrutiny:

Critical friendship to decision-makers

Engaging the public and enabling the voice of the public and communities to be heard in the process

Owning the process and work programme with non-cabinet members driving the scrutiny process

Making an impact through continuously looking for improvements in public service delivery

For this to happen the scrutiny committee and the processes that support it must be independent, robust and challenging. This is because scrutiny works best when it is part of a positive culture that supports and promotes the scrutiny process. The way in which the scrutiny process has the ability to engage with and involve the council's residents and service users can be a way to ensure that reviews take on the views of local communities.

The effectiveness of scrutiny is balanced on the need to ensure that any purpose and benefits it can provide are clearly understood. The following questions for reviewing the effectiveness of a scrutiny function could ask:

- Is it effectively holding decision-makers to account?
- Is it helping to improve services?
- Is it building links between the Council, its partners and the community?
- Is it helping to improve the quality of life for local people?
- Is it adding value?

In addition to the above questions; there should be a continued recognition from both officers and members of the value of effective challenge in helping towards continuous improvement. As Norwich city council has continuously strived to achieve, the friendly challenge of the scrutiny committee to decision makers needs to not only be informed by ward members but also evidenced by the experiences encountered of service users and residents.

The scrutiny year

Setting the work for the year – work programme

At the May 2016 meeting of the scrutiny committee, members discussed and agreed the work programme; the outcomes of which are detailed in this report and shown in the section, the work of the scrutiny committee and outcomes for 2016 – 2017. This section starts on page 10 of this review, and provides an overview of the work carried out by the scrutiny committee over the last 12 month period. The scrutiny committee's work programme varies in content, ranging from standing items, such as the yearly update on the environmental strategy to specific pieces of scrutiny work requested by the committee such as academies and educational attainment in Norwich.

Other standing items include:

Corporate plan review

Equality information report

Pre-scrutiny of the proposed budget

Annual review of the scrutiny committee

Also, verbal updates from the committee's NHOSC representation are brought to meetings as and when.

The work programme is also a standing item at every committee meeting, and members have the opportunity to add or remove items from the work programme if they wish.

Performance monitoring reports are an agenda item every six months, with members continuing to receive performance data every quarter for overview purposes.

The agenda papers and minutes of the committee meetings can be found on the council's web-site:

https://cmis.city.norwich.gov.uk/cmislive/Committees/tabid/62/ctl/ViewCMIS_CommitteeDetails/mid/381/id/4/Default.aspx

(At the time of this review's publication, work has already begun by the scrutiny liaison officer and the committee members around the work programme for 2017 – 2018 and this will be officially agreed by the scrutiny committee in May at the first meeting of the new civic year.)

Training

At the beginning of the scrutiny year in May, the committee took part in an afternoon of training. The aim of this session was to assist existing scrutiny members in gaining knowledge and building upon experience from previous training, and for the newly appointed members to be introduced to their scrutiny role.

The training consisted of a mixture of group exercises, discussions and presentations and was delivered by an external trainer.

The session contained the following content:

What overview and scrutiny is

Scrutiny trends over the past 10 years

The key skills required of members in scrutiny

Some pointers on the programming of scrutiny work

How to plan and scope your scrutiny work

Being tactical in the use of scrutiny

Following on from the discussion which ensued at the training and based on the working style of the committee throughout the following months, it seems the pre-existing protocols are working effectively for the scrutiny committee.

The members of the scrutiny committee also continue to come together for a pre-meeting in advance of the scrutiny committee so that they can plan the committee's approach for the topic being discussed at the committee meeting.

City council officers associated with the scrutiny committee also took part in a training event this year delivered by the same trainer. The aim of this session was to give officers support in their understanding of what scrutiny is and why it is important. The officer training session also considered the role of officers in scrutiny and techniques for work programming.

An investigation into food poverty in Norwich

This civic year, when setting their work programme, the scrutiny committee chose to investigate the issue of food poverty in the city of Norwich. The committee decided to devote two meetings to this item to allow for meaningful and thorough work.

In the first session, the members would examine the problem, including a definition of the works, and examples of the breadth and depth of the causes of food poverty. Members suggested examining the problem at different levels; structural, organisational and individual, in order to be able to create accurate resolutions.

It was also agreed by the committee that they would need to hear from expert witnesses to understand the problem and to ultimately develop a Norwich-specific approach to a Norwich problem. Therefore, scrutiny members suggested that it would be useful for them to hear from those people living with the situation of food poverty and when examining the structural level, it was considered vital to invite an academic to provide context. It was advised that the committee should identify at least three main drivers of food poverty in Norwich, and identify possible solutions and recommendations based on these drivers at the March meeting.

Then, in the second investigation of the food poverty session, the committee would take an in-depth consideration of approaches and strategies about how to address the issues raised in the first session. The scrutiny members elected to invite speakers who could educate the committee on how what impact their organisation has had on food poverty. The committee could then consider this evidence provided to them when making their resolutions.

It was concluded by the scrutiny committee that valuable work could be achieved by following up the sessions with the Department for Work and Pensions and the Health and Wellbeing Board.

On 23 February 2017, the committee held the first of two food poverty meetings, with three speakers invited to provide expert witness. This included:

- Jo Mack, lecturer at the Open University, television producer and co-author of Breadline Britain: The rise of mass poverty
- Hannah Worsley, Norwich foodbank project manager. Foodbank provides emergency food supplies and support
- Councillor Vaughan Thomas, cabinet member for fairness and equality

Jo Mack gave a presentation to members outlining the national picture of food poverty, and she also highlighted that eating was a social activity as well as a necessity and therefore food poverty was not only a health issue, but also a social issue.

The committee then heard from Councillor Vaughan Thomas, cabinet member for Fairness and Equality at Norwich City Council. He put onus on the complex appeal process for benefit sanctions and individuals not being able to navigate this process. He suggested better awareness on this could aid those facing food poverty.

Finally, the committee then heard recordings, collected by Future Radio, of short interviews with Norwich Foodbank users explaining why they had to use the foodbank. The reasons varied from benefit sanctions to a delay in wages being paid. Hannah Worsley, the Norwich Foodbank manager, presented the recordings and explained that they saw a wide range of users from those on benefits to those who were in work but were still unable to make ends meet.

All of the minutes and materials used at this meeting can be found on the Norwich City Council website under:
Committees > Scrutiny committee > 23 February 2017

Or at this link: https://cmis.norwich.gov.uk/live/Committees/tabid/62/ctl/ViewCMIS_CommitteeDetails/mid/381/id/4/Default.aspx

Questioning and discussion ensued by the committee leading to the resolution that the members of the scrutiny committee would send their initial thoughts on the main drivers of food poverty to officers, who would collate these suggestions and then bring back to the March scrutiny committee meeting.

The table overleaf is a culmination of the suggestions submitted by some of scrutiny committee of what the main drivers of food poverty in Norwich are based on the evidence they heard from speakers at the 23 February meeting.

	Understanding the Causes	Sustainable Response
Structural	Insecure work Low wage Welfare system that does not always prevent crises Distribution/accessibility of nutritious food
Organisational	Benefit delays Benefit sanctions Universal credit Debt recovery by landlords and others
Individual	Food literacy/skills Knowledge of navigating benefit system Low financial capability

On the 23 March 2017, the scrutiny committee held the final of the two food poverty meetings, and heard from the following speakers:

- Rosie Ogleby, National Director of Feeding Britain
- Caroline Seaman, Food Literacy practitioner

At this meeting, the chair of the scrutiny committee received two questions from members of the public.

A question from Clive Lewis MP, who asked, 'What does Norwich City Council currently do to help its citizens in food poverty? And what can the City Council do in a sustainable manner to begin to turn the tide of food poverty in our city?'

The other from Emma Stopford of Norwich FarmShare, who asked, 'Could the Committee give a view on how Norwich FarmShare can be best included in the Council's strategy to end food poverty - including the suggestions above and other ideas the Committee may have and could the Committee help ensure that Norwich FarmShare is to be formally included in this strategy?'

The full questions submitted and answers given can be found in the minutes of the meeting on the Norwich City Council website under Committees. Or at the following link:

<https://cmis.norwich.gov.uk/live/Meetingscalendar/tabid/70/ctl/ViewMeetingPublic/mid/397/Meeting/268/Committee/4/Default.aspx>

Following the public questions, the committee then heard from the National Director of Feeding Britain, Rosie Oglesby who gave the members an overview of what Feeding Britain is and its role to helping those living in food poverty. She also spoke of the possibility of a pilot for Feeding Norwich, if it was something Norwich City Council was interested in pursuing.

The committee then heard from Caroline Seaman who is a food literacy practitioner. Caroline's presentation looked at food literacy and the need to build on this in order to help prevent food poverty. She spoke of various options the council could consider in order to help resolve the issue of food poverty, like the uptake of acceptance of Healthy Start vouchers by market stalls and independent shops.

After discussion and questions by the committee and the speakers, the members split off into two groups to begin thinking of solutions, all of which are in the table below:

	Understanding the Causes	Sustainable Response
Structural	Insecure work Low wage Welfare system that does not always prevent crises Distribution/accessibility of nutritious food	Charitable trust funding e.g. social supermarkets/pop up shops Increasing roll out of discount supermarkets? Opportunities coming from Sustainability and Transformation Plans to engage GPs and hospitals Surplus food projects based around food preserving skills
Organisational	Benefit delays Benefit sanctions Universal credit Debt recovery by landlords and others 6 week gap prior to UC claim	Food poverty strategy – umbrella document Use of vacant HRA shops for social/enterprise use Widening knowledge of Discretionary Housing Payments Widening availability of apprenticeships e.g. NPS Improving information on availability of advice – signposting Free school meals take up Go 4 less – encouraging take up Social value in procurement
Individual	Food literacy/skills Knowledge of navigating benefit system Low financial capability	Role of crowdfunding for surplus food enterprises Food literacy activity – cooking, shopping, community led After school food clubs Opportunity for sharing/trading surplus food on allotments – schemes in community centres Skills sharing between generations Healthy start vouchers accepted by independent retailers Promote access of affordable credit

During this workshop, the committee members, with the support of officers and the invited speakers, began to pull together ideas for solutions to food poverty, and how they could form these solutions into recommendations. All of the suggestions made by the scrutiny councillors are detailed in the 'sustainable response' column of the table above.

The March committee meeting then came to an end, and the members resolved to consider the suggestions at the next meeting on April 6 2017 to produce formal recommendations. At the time of publication of this review, the committee had not yet met again, but the committee's resolutions will be available online in the minutes of this meeting:

<https://cmis.norwich.gov.uk/live/Meetingscalendar/tabid/70/ctl/ViewMeetingPublic/mid/397/Meeting/365/Committee/4/Default.aspx>

These two sessions taken together show how the scrutiny committee has been able to take a rounded look at a complex issue and, using evidence from a range of stakeholders, play a valuable role in shaping the way that the city council seeks to address local issues.

Joint scrutiny bodies

Norfolk county health overview and scrutiny committee; Norwich City Council has a scrutiny member representative who sits on the Norfolk county health overview and scrutiny committee plus one substitute member. For the period 2016 – 2017 the member representative has been Councillor Kevin Maguire with Councillor Lesley Grahame being the substitute member.

The role of the Norfolk county health overview and scrutiny committee is to look at the work of the clinical commissioning groups and National Health Service (NHS) trusts and the local area team of NHS England. It acts as a 'critical friend' by suggesting ways that health related services might be improved. It also looks at the way the health service interacts with social care services, the voluntary sector, independent providers and other county council services to jointly provide better health services to meet the diverse needs of Norfolk residents and improve their well-being.

Please follow the link to the Norfolk county council website for papers and minutes concerning the above:

<http://www.norfolk.gov.uk/index.htm> and click on council and democracy then committee meeting dates, minutes, agendas and reports.

Norfolk countywide community safety partnership scrutiny sub panel; Norwich city council has a scrutiny member representative who sits on the Norfolk countywide community safety partnership scrutiny sub panel plus one substitute member. For the period 2016 – 2017 the member representative has been Councillor David Fullman with Councillor Lesley Grahame being the substitute member.

The role of the Norfolk countywide community safety partnership scrutiny sub panel is to:

- Scrutinise the actions, decisions and priorities of the Norfolk Countywide Community Safety Crime and Disorder Partnership in respect of crime and disorder on behalf of the (County) community services overview and scrutiny panel
- Scrutinise the priorities as set out in the annual countywide community safety partnership plan
- Make any reports or recommendations to the countywide community safety partnership.

While the scrutiny sub panel has the duty of scrutinising the work of the CCSP the police and crime panel scrutinises the work of the police and crime commissioner. There is a protocol regarding the relationship of these two panels to encourage and exchange information and to co-operate towards the delivery of their respective responsibilities. The community safety partnership meets on a half yearly basis at county hall.

Guidance for placing items onto the scrutiny committee work programme

The guidance takes the form of a flow chart which outlines the process by which members and officers can discuss the merits of producing a report to the committee. Once a request for scrutiny has been received by the scrutiny officer; the process begins with a meeting between the member making the request, the scrutiny officer and the relevant responsible officer to discuss whether a report to the committee is necessary and justified while taking account of the TOPIC analysis:

- T is this the right TIME to review the issue and is there sufficient officer time and resource available?
- O what would be the OBJECTIVE of the scrutiny?
- P can PERFORMANCE in this area be improved by scrutiny input?
- I what would be the public INTEREST in placing this topic onto the work programme?
- C will any scrutiny activity on this matter contribute to the council's activities as agreed to in the CORPORATE PLAN?

Once the TOPIC analysis has been undertaken, a joint decision should then be reached as to whether a report to the scrutiny committee is required. If it is decided that a report is not required, the issue will not be pursued any further. However, if there are outstanding issues, these could be picked up by agreeing that a briefing email to members be sent, or other appropriate action by the relevant officer.

If it is agreed that the scrutiny request topic should be explored further by the scrutiny committee a short report should be written for a future meeting of the scrutiny committee, to be taken under the standing work programme item, so that members are able to consider if they should place the item on to the work programme. This report should outline a suggested approach if the committee was minded to take on the topic and outline the purpose using the outcome of the consideration of the topic via the TOPIC analysis. Also the report should provide an overview of the current position with regard to the topic under consideration.

By using the flowchart, it is hoped that members and officers will be aided when giving consideration to whether or not the item should be added to the scrutiny committee work programme. This should help to ensure that the scope and purpose will be covered by any future report. The outcome of this should further assist the committee and the officers working with the committee to be able to produce informed outcomes that are credible, influential with recommendations that are; Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant and Time-bound.

Guidance flow chart for placing items onto the scrutiny committee work programme

Public involvement and getting in touch with scrutiny

Meetings of the scrutiny committee are usually as informal as possible and as well as scrutiny members, are attended by cabinet portfolio members, officers, partners and anyone else who can assist with the work and provide evidence for reviews.

Members of the public are also welcome to attend the scrutiny committee meetings and can participate at the discretion of the committee's Chair. If you do wish to participate regarding an agenda item at a scrutiny meeting you are requested to contact the committee officer who will liaise with the Chair of the committee and the scrutiny officer. Any questions for the committee have to be received no later than 10.00 am on the day before the meeting but in order for you to obtain a thorough answer it would be helpful if you could contact us as early as possible. To contact the committee officer please phone 01603 212416
